GOOD LUCK ON FINALS!

Enrollment Climbs

Registrar Expects 8,300 In Spring Term Classes

The registrar's office expects 8,300 students to register for the spring semester.

If this figure is reached, it will exceed last year's 7,770 for the second semester by more than 500 students. However, the anticipated enrollment is nearly 800 short of this semester's record 9,082.

The registration procedure will be the same as last fall's.

Instructions and permits to enroll must first be obtained on the main level of the Administration Building after which the student is to have his subject choices approved by his counselor. Class card issuance and fee payment will be handled in the Gene Epley Library.

The schedule for registration follows:

Jan. 31—Monday 7:30 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. Day students—seniors (91 or more hours earned) and graduate students taking any day classes, who were enrolled in the fall semester of 1965.

4 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.—Evening students and graduate students taking evening courses only. (See evening registration schedule.)

Feb. 1—Tuesday 7:30 a.m. to

Council Suggests Change In Dress

The Student Council recommends more freedom for slack-wearing women.

The council proposes that women be allowed to wear slacks in the Student Center and in the Library after 6 p.m. and all day Saturday, during vacations and during final exam week.

This recommendation was discussed at the January meeting and sent to Dean of Student Personnel, Donald Pflasterer.

Other discussion during the meeting was:

—Plans for the adoption of an orphan during the spring semester. Money to be used would come from the Student Activities Fund.

—Typewriters for student use have arrived and are located in the Student's Organization Room, Applied Arts, 242. They can be used from 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. The key to the room must be checked out from Mrs. Helm in room 250.

—The long-awaited juke box will be installed in the Oupami Room during semester break.

Tomahawk Editor

Diane Berry, junior, was chosen Monday by the Board of Student Publications as next year's editor of the "Tomahawk" annual.

noon and 1 to 3 p.m. Day students—juniors (58 through 90 hours earned) taking any day classes, who were enrolled in the fall semester of 1965.

4 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.—Evening students and graduate students taking evening courses only. (See evening registration schedule.)

Feb. 2—Wednesday 7:30 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. Day students—sophomores (27 through 57 hours earned) taking any day classes, who were enrolled in the fall semester of 1965.

No evening registration.

Feb. 3—Thursday 7:30 to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. Day students—freshmen (26 or less hours earned) taking any day classes, who were enrolled in the fall semester of 1965.

No evening registration.

Feb. 4—Friday 7:30 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. Day students—former students (who attended OU prior to the fall semester 1965), transfer students, new students (first time at any university) and students who failed to register on their assigned day, taking any day classes.

No evening registration.

Mid-Year Grads To Hear Bowen

Dr. Leland E. Traywick will confer 552 degrees at mid-year commencement January 29, at 10 a.m. in the Field House. This year's speaker will be Dr. Howard Bowen, president of the University of Iowa.

Dr. Bowen, who has been president of the University since 1964, received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Washington State University. He received his Ph.D. in economics from the University of Iowa.

After teaching at the University of Iowa from 1935 to 1942, Dr. Bowen was named chief of business structure unit, U. S. Department of Commerce, in 1942. In 1944, he became chief economist of the Joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation. In 1947, he became dean of the College of Commerce and professor of economics at the University of Illinois. He served as professor of economics at Williams College in Massachusetts from 1952 until he became president of Grinnell College in 1955.

National Post

Recently, President Lyndon Johnson named him chairman of the National Commission on Technology, Automation and Economic Progress.

Dean Pflasterer said that there would be no baccalaureate services held. Graduates are to attend the church of their choice the Sunday before graduation if they so desire.

Dr. Traywick said that he wants the students to understand that the January commencement is as important in his eyes and the eyes of the faculty as the June commencement.

In order to save time as in the past, only the candidates for master's degrees will be presented them individually and receive their degrees in the front. The remainder of the class will be presented their degrees as group.

The candidates for graduation are:

College of Liberal Arts

Bachelor of Arts—William F. Applegate, Orville L. Arbogast, Joseph Lee Benson, Michael Edwin Beveridge, Meyer H. Coran, Daniel B. Flood, James C. Fraser, James Marvin Fry, Charles J. Gadsby, Robert Carl Gohman, Janet M. Hault, James Cary Hayward, Allan Louise Hewitt, Maurice John Howard, Joyce Eileen Hunter, Forrest Keith James and Carole Ann Kucera.

Roger D. Moore, Rosalind Morris, James Elsworth Muckey, Herbert Lloyd Osborne, Jr., Della Paskett, Douglas C. Ragnow, Fred S. V. Scarpello, George E. Smallwood, III, Joel Charles Small and Mary Christine L. Swenson.

Bachelor of Fine Arts—Ward Douglas Schumaker and Robert Andrew Walsh.

College of Applied Arts and Sciences

Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering—Carl L. Brunkow, Keith Earl Christian, John Frederick Gaver, Francis R. Gregory, Thomas J. Long, John R. Stolley, Albert Henry Swanson and Donald Richard Weiss.

Bachelor of Science in Engineering—Business Administration—Ronald Glen Bates.

Bachelor of Science in General Engineering—John Richard Krogh, Martin Howard O'Leary and Larry Walter Schneider.

Bachelor of Science in Industrial Engineering—Donald Ray Sarason.

Bachelor of Science in Home Economics—Carol Lee Kolash.

Bachelor of Science in Journalism—Dennis Harrison Madigan and Richard M. Moran.

Bachelor of Science in Military Science—Richard Louis Seabe, Carl R. Blake-more, Harley D. Boofen, Frederick K. Carter, Arnold Dale Feener, Norman Goldberg, Donald F. Hansen, Albert E. Hooper, Jr., Bernard Murray Leiber, Joseph M. Maurer, Richard Elwood O'Hara and James Ralph White.

Bachelor of Science in Nursing—Dolores McMurray Aso, Eleanor L. Davis, Vera Marie Hamwood, Emma S. Jordan, Margaret Marshall and Michael James Spillane.

Associate Title in Applied Arts—Eugene L. Smith.

Associate Title in Home Economics—Patricia Joy McFarland.

Police Cadets To Start Law Enforcement Jobs

By R. Valentino Smith

Omaha University students enrolled in the Law Enforcement and Security program will begin working part-time at Central Police Headquarters next month.

Dr. Sam Sollenberger, College of Adult Education, will arrange for job interviews, which will take place after finals are over.

The four-course program is geared to encourage college graduates to enter the field of law enforcement, increase the efficiency of the Omaha Police Department and "be a focal point for higher education in law enforcement in the midwest," according to Inspector Al Pattavina. Pattavina, Public Safety Director Francis E. Lynch and Police Chief L. K. Smith inaugurated the program.

A total of 90 undergraduate students are presently enrolled in the four-course program. Many of the students are police and highway patrol officers.

Requirements

The cadet must be an OU junior or senior, at least 19 years of age, a full-time student, and passing in all subjects. He must also pass a physical examination comparable to that taken by regular police officers.

While going to school, the cadet will work 20 hours a week in one of the departments at Central Police Headquarters. According to Inspector Pattavina, cadets will get a chance to work in all police departments. They will rotate after working several months in one of the departments to another department.

Each time the cadets are rotated they will be subject to evaluation by the heads of the departments. The students must perform satisfactorily to maintain a position of cadet on the staff.

Prior to the rotation, the cadet will be given on-the-job training and observation in the field of police work.

The cadets will be paid for their work and work hours will be scheduled to be compatible with their school schedules.

According to Pattavina, the cadets won't be permitted to carry weapons or make arrests but will specialize in paper work at the headquarters.

Twelve to twenty students are expected to be chosen to work part-time as cadets. Chief L. K. Smith voiced hope of expanding the program in order that "the number might be raised to 25 cadets."

More Readings

The ordinance has to undergo several more readings by the City Council before it is fully approved.

According to Pattavina, "the program has generated a considerable amount of interest at O.U. by the students."

Dr. Sollenberger said O.U. is the only college or university in the Great Plains area to offer a degree in law enforcement. Short non-credit courses are offered by other schools in phases other than law enforcement.

The present courses offered at the university are Accident Investigation, Interview and Investigation, Criminal Law, Civil Law for Police Officers, and a course on juveniles taught by Dr. Larry Barnett, of the Sociology Dept.

Ban All Unnecessary Cars

While officials are puzzling out the solution to the University's parking problem, OU students are wasting valuable study hours wandering in and out of parking aisles and driving slowly through each parking lot looking for the unattainable—a place to stash their wheels.

Since there seems to be no high-rise parking garage in OU's near future, nor any other parking place, there is only one fairly obvious solution—to ban some cars from campus.

The next problem is to decide which cars to ban. Naturally the students who have off-campus jobs need their cars to get to work, for sometimes they have only fifteen minutes to get to work from their last class. Also, student teachers who have sometimes only two hours to get to and from their student teaching post and have to spend up to one hour in class must have a car. There are bound to be other similar situations.

Who doesn't need a car? The students who don't have an off-campus job or any special off-campus activity can afford to spend the few extra minutes making bus connections.

The solution to the problem, then, is to ban from campus the cars of the students who don't have any special reason for driving to school. This would release valuable parking places for students who have to drive, thus saving time and frustration for everyone.

ETV Chalks Up Its First Failure

Five hundred teachers agreed that Channel 26 should receive a big "F" for their performance Thursday morning. The subject it should have flunked was elementary math.

When quizzed about the math failure, William Newens, traffic manager, said, "It was the first failure we have had. We had the station back on the air by nine-thirty. It seems that a transmitter didn't kick-in."

This was the first failure that the station has had in over 325 hours of broadcasting.

The senior class is looking for designs for the monument which will be its gift to the University.

Would-be designers can contact Loren Drum, 553-0253, for further information. The winning design will be worth $25 to its creator.

More Movies Offered

Beginning Feb. 14, there will begin another series of movies to be shown in the OUampi room at 3:30 p.m., Monday afternoons. The names of the shows to be run are "The Interns," "Diamond Head," "The Notorious Landlady," "Suddenly Last Summer," "Charade," "Carry On Teacher," "Muscle Beach Party," and "Cyrano."

Probing Camera Films Omaha U, A-go-go Lounges

By Bob Erxleben

Should any local night club lay claim to being the most popular night spot in town, Ken Fielding would undoubtedly be the first to say, "It just ain't so."

And he should know.

The former OU journalism instructor, turned Special Projects Director for KMTV, has spent the past four weeks putting together a special 30-minute television program entitled "The Busiest Night Spot in Town."

The filmed tour of Omaha's night spots lead from the night life of a-go-go lounges to the night classes in OU's College of Adult Education.

According to Fielding, "The CAE classrooms are the busiest spots in town."

His camera takes the viewer into some 15 classrooms, where the curriculum ranges from graduate classes in comparative economics and philosophy to undergraduate studies in engineering, psychology, English.

The tour winds up with a peek into classrooms where some of the more unconventional courses, such as watercolors and upholstery, are taught.

Fielding stated the purpose of his film as, "an attempt to point out the role of continuing education as a necessity for adults who want to keep up with a rapidly changing world."

During the four weeks of preparation, about 3,000 feet of film was shot, both silent and sound-on-film. The silent segments are supplemented by background music and taped interviews.

Western Electric has sponsored the half-hour program which will be televised Sunday, Jan. 23 at 7:30 p.m. on KMTV, Channel 3.

It's a date to remember!

Construction Firm Sets Scholarship

Paxton and Vierling Steel Company is offering a $500 scholarship to OU students in construction technology for the second year.

The money will be split among two or three second semester students.

Ed Owen, president of Paxton, set up the scholarship last year. It is not a continuing scholarship program.

Carl Jonas Will Leave To Begin New Novel

By Judy Bradley

Novelist Carl Jonas will leave his English-teaching post at the University of Omaha at the end of the semester to begin work on another novel.

"An idea has been forming all fall," Jonas said. "Teaching and writing don't go together very well because it's hard to find time to write when you're teaching."

Jonas, 52, has never taught during a spring semester since starting in 1957. "In the fall," Jonas said, "you have a feeling of being in on the beginning of things. It's hard to find a place for yourself when you start in mid-year."

The former journalist and radio script writer found teaching "a way of becoming a part of the community. From my little perch here I can be aware of a great many things." He seldom uses the college setting, "but students suggest ideas to me."

Jonas has written six novels, including "Our Revels Now Are Ended," "Lillian White Deer" and "Jefferson Selleck." A seventh novel, "That Can Sing Both High and Low," will be published in October.

The main character in the latest novel is a teacher. "It seemed like a convenient thing to throw him into the teaching world. It's something I know about."

Jonas' teacher in "High and Low" copes with "the problems of a fairly well-educated person trying to arrive at a point of action in the world."

"The more we know, the less we seem to know. We never seem to know enough to make intelligent action," the author explained. "The character makes a mess of his life and tries to find his way back in a way that is fuller and more mature."

"The theme picks you," Jonas declared. "The character develops the theme and the people he sees in the world are the characters."

Jonas finds that "fiction is a way of looking at life itself." Little moments in life pop into my head and I say, 'Say, that's a good scene.'"

Jonas has created a fictional metropolis called Gateway City, for which he drew a map. It looks like Omaha and the people in it are something like the people he sees.

"I outline the book as carefully as I can. I may take two or three months doing that."

The characters are fuzzy at first. He makes a timeline chart for the life of each character, putting in the standard things that happen to the person for each year of his life.

When the individual touches are added, "slowly the character starts to become a person. The plot structure slowly begins to develop for me and the conflicts between the people show what kind of people they are."

Jonas jots down scenes and makes the formal outline, chapter by chapter, until he feels an ending to the story. Then he starts the actual writing.

He hopes his latest work will be finished before September, when he will again turn his attention to students and to their writing problems.

Modern Math To Be Shown Labor Relations Seminar's Topic

KYNE-TV will premiere three new evening series January 31, at 7 p.m.

The night programs will be shown on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday. Modern Math for parents is designed to help parents understand what their children are learning in elementary school math. A live production showing the viewing public what is happening on Creighton and Omaha University campuses is entitled University Showcase.

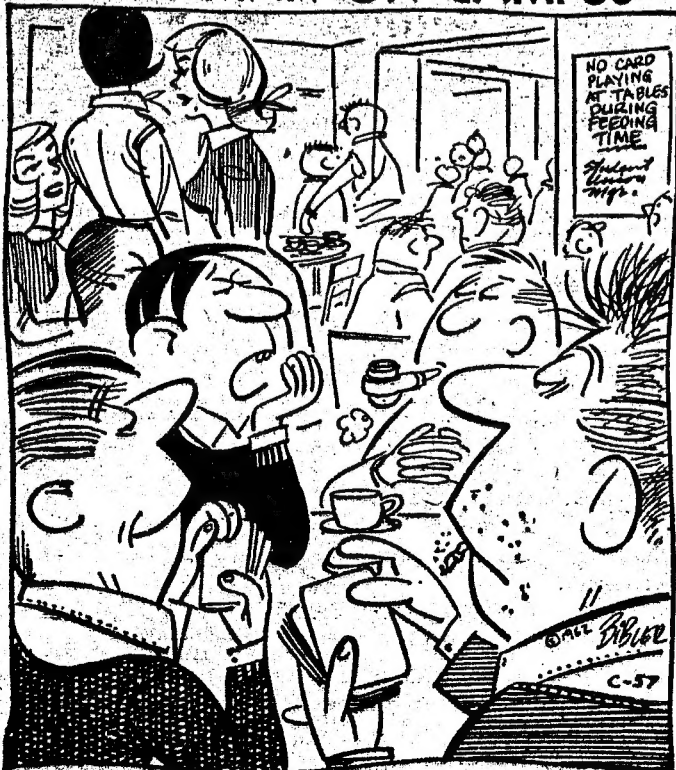

Great Voices from Great Books is another new series.

Second year construction students are invited to a labor seminar Feb. 3 and 4.

The Nebraska Building Chapter of the Associated General Contractors are sponsoring the seminar which will be held at the Indian Hills Inn, 8501 West Dodge Road. Topics to be discussed include labor relations and union negotiation.

Edwin E. Kinney, technical institute director, said construction students, particularly, are invited to the noon luncheon on Thursday, Feb. 4.

Indoor Track Draws 30; Opening Test Set Feb. 11

By R. Valentino Smith

A better-than-average recruiting program gave coach Lloyd Cardwell one of the largest indoor track turn-outs in recent years this January.

But the quality of the team won't be tested until Feb. 11.

Over 30 candidates checked out track equipment earlier this month. A few more hopefuls will come out at the conclusion of final examinations, Cardwell said.

A few of the present candidates are in scholastic trouble, and their eligibility won't be known until after finals.

Gould Runs Again

Dan Watchhorn, Cardwell's new assistant, was praised for the large turn-out. Watchhorn will direct the field events.

Heading the list of returning lettermen is durable Ken Gould, who placed fourth in the NATA Cross-country championship here in December.

Other returning lettermen are: Hurdlers—Gary Powers, Clyde Ketelsen and Ed Neel; sprinters—Max Kurz and Dennis Ondilla; distance—Jim McMahon, Robert Smiley and Wayne Boldt; field events—pole vaulter—Al Grignon.

Gridders Turn Out

The Indians will open with a triangular meet against Doane and Emporia State on Feb. 11. OU will host Nebraska Wesleyan and Peru State on Feb. 18.

Other squad hopefuls, including many who double as footballers, are:

Richard Anderson, Central; Bill Barber, Morristown, N. J.; Rodger Beier, Westside; Carl Goodman, Central; Henry Gubi, Albuquerque, N. M.; Robert Hilbrandt, North; Ed Jackson, Cincinnati.

Pi Kaps Keep Close To Top; Hawks Conquer Journalists

By John Weber

The Pi Kaps dropped TKE 56-25 last week to remain in contention for the League I title.

In League II, Kappa Alpha Psi and The Team ended with victories over the Lit Pikes and the Bootstrappers. Other wins were recorded by Sig Eps, Lambda Chi and Sevalns.

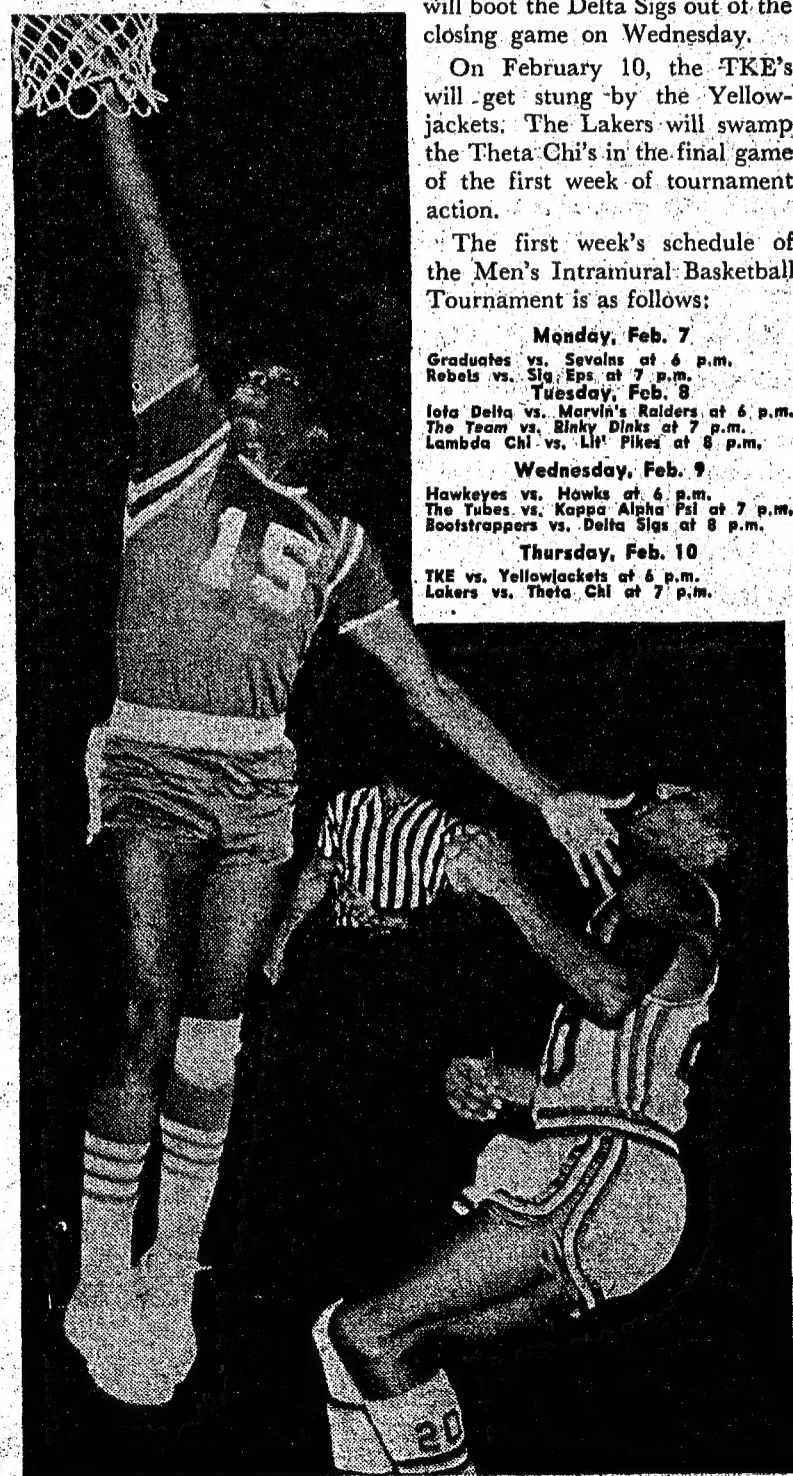

In a practice game, the Hawks defeated Marvin's Raiders, by a score of 56-39.

Standings on January 16:

'The Web' Foresees Major Tourny Upsets

The Men's Intramural Basketball

Gorilla's Archie Harrison thumbs J. Meyer's nose while scoring.

ball Tournament begins February 7, at 6 p.m.

Rumors are that a late entrant will take to the court in the tournament. That is if they can find a berth.

The rapidly-formed group calls themselves "The Polacks" and promise an interesting display if they play.

In opening night action, The Web predicts the Graduates will display an extra degree of talent in defeating the Sevalns. The South will rise again as the Rebels rout the Sig Eps in the second game.

On Tuesday, February 8, the Marvin's Raiders do not have an iota of a chance of beating the Iota Deltas. Rinky Dinks are not much on ice rinks, but should run The Team off the court. The Lit' Pikes are not at their peak so the Lambda Chi's will surmount them in the night cap.

The Hawk's blinding speed will prove too brilliant for the Hawkeyes on February 9. The Tubes will bottle the Kappa Alpha Psi team. The Bootstrappers will boot the Delta Sigs out of the closing game on Wednesday.

On February 10, the TKE's will get stung by the Yellow-jackets. The Lakers will swamp the Theta Chi's in the final game of the first week of tournament action.

The first week's schedule of the Men's Intramural Basketball Tournament is as follows:

Monday, Feb. 7
Graduates vs. Sevalns at 6 p.m.
Rebels vs. Sig Eps at 7 p.m.
Tuesday, Feb. 8
Iota Delta vs. Marvin's Raiders at 6 p.m.
The Team vs. Rinky Dinks at 7 p.m.
Lambda Chi vs. Lit' Pikes at 8 p.m.
Wednesday, Feb. 9
Hawkeyes vs. Hawks at 6 p.m.
The Tubes vs. Kappa Alpha Psi at 7 p.m.
Bootstrappers vs. Delta Sigs at 8 p.m.
Thursday, Feb. 10
TKE vs. Yellowjackets at 6 p.m.
Lakers vs. Theta Chi at 7 p.m.

Haas Grabs 31 Pts. Sat. In CIC Win

The Indians did just what they had in mind Saturday night when they upset the CIC leaders and defending champions. The 67-to-61 victory evened the Indian's conference record at 2-and-2 and dropped Pittsburg into second place.

Sophomore Bill Haas netted 31 points in leading the Indian's to the win. The total included a basket with 44 seconds remaining in the first half to give Omaha a 26-25 half-time advantage.

Three time all-CIC center and an All-America honorable mention last season, Jim Chroust, was held to 19 points, his lowest effort of the season. The gorilla stand out did however set a school record of 1,326 points.

Subs Shine Briefly

Reserves Jim Vincent and Bernie Miller were called on when Dennis Browne and Sam Singleton ran into foul trouble. Assigned the task of holding down Chroust, Browne drew his third foul before the intermission.

Sam Singleton took a 20.7 scoring average into the contest, which was second only to the Gorilla's Jim Chroust. The OU standout scored only nine points however as he was on the feeding end of the play.

The Indian's played Kearney State last night in the final game before semester exams. The squad travels to Atchinson Jan. 29 for a game with St. Benedict's.

OU Greeks To Get Chance To Choose Satan At Dance

Semester break will find one fraternity member a lucky devil.

Five men are vying for the title "King Satan" at the annual Alpha Xi Delta Devil Dance January 31. The Monday night party will be at the Carter Lake Club from 9-12 p.m.

The Search Is On For Best Dressers

The Home Economics Club is searching for an all-American classic. They want her to represent Omaha University in the tenth annual "Glamour" magazine "Ten Best-Dressed College Coeds" contest.

The contest is sponsored annually by the college fashion magazine to select the impeccably-groomed college women throughout the United States. The winners are treated to two weeks of entertainment in New York.

The campus contest is sponsored by the Home Economics Club. Members of the club are instructed to be aware of certain qualifications in the girls they notice on campus. These requirements include:

- knowing one's fashion type
- an organized wardrobe plan

The winner will be elected by vote of Greeks attending the dance. Admission is one Greek card per couple.

Candidates for King Satan are Jim Butler, Sigma Phi Epsilon; John Berkheimer, Lambda Chi Alpha; Chuck Green, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Craig Hoenshell, Pi Kappa Alpha and Wayne Wotherspoon, Theta Chi.

Chairman for the dance is Social Chairman Sharon Eddy. Assisting her are Linda Logan and Jackie Riley.

A pre-party for Alpha Xi's and their dates will be at the home of Inez Kucera from 7-8:30 p.m.

The Noblemen Combo will provide the music.

- clothes suitable to customs or locale
- appropriateness to time and occasion
- individuality
- imagination in clothes budgeting
- impeccable grooming including appropriate make-up
- clean, well-mannered hair
- figure and posture

Ten semi-finalists will be chosen by the executive council of the club and faculty members. Winners will be honored at a Feb. 14 tea, where the winner will be announced.

Jane Carter Named Helen At Theta Chi's 'Olympics'

The physically fit and the fit physically came out ahead Friday at the annual Theta Chi 'Olympics.'

Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity won the Greek athletic events. Jane Carter was named Helen of Troy.

The events and the winners were:

- Chariot: Pikes
- Trike Race: Zeta
- Tug-o-war: Zeta—Sig Eps
- Pyramid: Chi O—TKE
- Egg Toss: Zeta—Pikes
- Hula Hoop: Alpha Xi—Pikes

Jane ... 'Helen'

Zeta Tau Alpha scored a total of 130 points and Pi Kappa Alpha scored 125 points. Lambda Chi Alpha came in second with 100 points and Alpha Xi with 95.

Jane Carter, the new Helen of Troy, is a member of Sigma Kappa sorority.

She is a 21-year-old senior, majoring in history. She plans to teach on the junior high level. The blue-eyed blonde holds the office of vice president in her sorority. Last year she was historian.

Future plans include her graduation in June and her marriage to O.U. senior Bob Lane in August.

Departing Seniors Will Dine, Dance

The first senior dinner-dance for January graduates will be held Friday, January 28, at the Prom Town House Ballroom. The event will be from 6:30-12 p.m.

Senior class president Loren Drum said that reservations will be accepted until January 21. Members of the class of 1966 are eligible to attend the event. Arrangements may be made by dropping a card addressed to: Loren Drum, P.O. Box 96, University of Omaha.

Guests at the event will be OU President Emeritus Dr. Milo Bail, the senior class sponsors, Donald Manson and Paul V. Peterson, and several alumni. The class sponsors will give a short address.
